Where's the bias? SC says farm panel has no power

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi, 20 January

The Supreme Court on Wednesday expressed strong displeasure over the aspersions cast by some farmers' unions on members of the court-appointed committee to resolve the impasse over new farm laws and said it has not given any adjudicating authority to the panel. "Where is the question of bias in this? We have not given adjudicating powers to the committee. You don't want to appear as understandable, but casting aspersions on someone because he expressed his view is not done. You don't need to brand anybody like this," said the bench, also comprising Justices A S Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian.

Farmers conduct rehearsal for their tractor rally ahead of the Republic Day

The top court said that it has serious reservations that committee members were called names and branded, which has become a cultural thing now. Meanwhile, the hopes of Delhi Police to get a judicial order to stop the proposed tractor rally by the protesting farmers on the Republic Day in the national capital were dashed as the top court asked the Centre to withdraw the plea, saying it was a "police matter" and was not an issue for the "court to pass orders". A bench headed by Chief Justice S A Bobde said, "You malign people according to public opinion. I am very disappointed and sorry to see the kind opinion which has been appearing in this press" and questioned, "How can you malign them just because they have expressed some views in the past?" The bench also comprising Justices A S Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian issued notice and sought response from Centre in two weeks on a separate plea of 'Kisan Mahapanchayat', a farmers' body from Rajasthan, seeking removal of three remaining members of the apex-court appointed panel and the replacement of Bhupinder Singh Mann, who had recused himself from the panel. Taking note of submissions of a lawyer that opinions on the panel members have been formed on the basis of media reports about their prof farm laws views, the bench said, "You people unnecessarily cast aspersions. Can the people expressing their views in some other context, be debarred from the committee?" The CJI said, "One of the committee members Sardar Bhupinder Singh Mann had called for amendments in the law. Does this mean a person expressing his opinion cannot be in a committee? You cannot brand people like this. People should have an opinion. Why should people not have an opinion? Even judges do have and express their opinions". The bench said, "Everyone argues before a judge as if he is arguing on a clean slate but branding people has become a cultural thing now. Even judges express views during hearing. That doesn't mean they can't decide an issue." On January 12, the top court had stayed the implementation of the contentious new farm laws till further orders and constituted the four-member committee.

Pay farmers before delivery to avoid row: Paper

SANJEEB MUKHERJEE New Delhi, 20 January

Amid the ongoing farmer protests at Delhi's borders against the three farm Acts, a discussion paper was presented during the National Dialogue on Indian Agriculture in 2030, organised by the NITI Aayog and Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO). The paper said farmers need to be paid on the same day either in cash or electronically before delivery of their produce in a trade area (classified as an area outside the jurisdiction of a regulated APMC). This will lower the possibility of disputes and eliminate the chances of going to a sub-divisional magistrate for settlement. It also called for better oversight and regulation for trading on an electronic platform as facilitated by the Acts. This could be in the form of some agency or intermediary that could facilitate transactions between farmers or aggregators and the buyers. The paper, written by researcher Seema Bathla and former agriculture secretary Siraj Hussain, said while the three agriculture Acts will have far-reaching impact, the state governments, on their part, need to draw up a blueprint for entry of the private sector in agriculture markets.

"The consistency of performance is something which made the jury vote in favour of Federal Bank. There had been a couple of other contenders with equally strong data set and decent performance, but the jury noted and recognised that these turnaround in performances have been of relatively recent origin and of shorter duration, and probably it would be important for the jury to wait and watch the performance for a relatively longer period to establish the consistency," said Mundra, chair of the jury.

The jury appreciated Federal Bank's overall performance year after year, without any undue surprise. The bank's net NPA was 1.31 per cent as on March 31, 2020. Importantly, it has fallen in the past three years in consideration, whereas many have witnessed fluctuations. The bank is also one of the few which reported net profit in the last three years under review. Net profit of the bank stood at ₹1,543 crore for the year ended March 31, 2020, registering 24 per cent growth year-on-year.

Govt wants...

"We are operating with too many restrictions. We should get back to an open and free world as quickly as possible," the airline's CEO Ronojoy Dutta had recently said in an interview. However, rivals like SpiceJet, Go Air and AirAsia India have told the government that with capacity and fare cap removed, IndiGo's expansion will increase their losses. One of the CEOs has even told the government that there can be cases of bankruptcy too, according to sources. "Anyway, Q4 is a weak quarter for airlines as January-March remains a lean season after the high of the festival month in October and year end travel in December. It is severely worse this year as there's hardly any forward bookings. It will be very difficult to profitably deploy any more capacity," said head of commercial of an airline. While civil aviation minister

Hardeep Singh Puri has been optimistic about airlines regaining the pre-Covid capacity by end of December, bureaucrats believe the aviation sector may take longer to return to normalcy. Aviation secretary Pradeep Singh Kharola said, "I don't think the bad period is over. It will take another two-three months for things to get back to normal". Analysts tracking the sector said the biggest worry is the absence of business travellers who buy costly tickets making it possible for airlines to offer cheaper fares to vacationers. Media planners say that the gaming, fintech, and edtech start-ups are leading the race for sponsorships deals, much like they did during the Indian Premier League (IPL) in September last year. Dream11 emerged the title sponsor for the IPL, pipping Byju's and Unacademy. On television, Dream11 came on board as co-sponsoring sponsor along with PhonePe, Amazon, and Byju's during IPL 2020. There were associate sponsors across categories, such as cable and wires (Polycab India), fast-moving consumer goods (Procter & Gamble, ITC, Mondelez India, and Coca-Cola), online rummy (Rummy Circle), and financial services (Association of Mutual Funds in India), among others. Incidentally, IPL this year will revert to its Springtime schedule, coming right after the India-England bilateral series, implying that Star Sports — the official broadcaster of the IPL — will have two tournaments to sell back-to-back in the first half of 2021. While that is a handful, some media planners and experts say that categories riding the summer season will hop on board. "There will be no dearth of advertisers for the IPL this year, despite a surfeit of cricket," says Karan Taurani, vice-president-research, Elara Capital, adding, "Small and large advertisers will be keen to invest in the property." Cricket certainly seems the flavour of the season this year.
